

Women in the Sciences

Left Out, Left Behind

MAKE YOUR VOICE HEARD

Throughout the country, there are too few female faculty in math, sciences, and engineering. Now is the time to promote campus dialogue on these issues.

To find out more about how our school stacks up, and what you can do to help, go to

www.womensprerogative.org/womeninscience

The National Women's Law Center is collecting stories of people who have been affected by the lack of women professors in our science departments. E-mail these stories to action@nwlc.org.

For more information go to:
www.womensprerogative.org/womeninscience
E-mail stories to action@nwlc.org

For more information go to:
www.womensprerogative.org/womeninscience
E-mail stories to action@nwlc.org

For more information go to:
www.womensprerogative.org/womeninscience
E-mail stories to action@nwlc.org

For more information go to:
www.womensprerogative.org/womeninscience
E-mail stories to action@nwlc.org

For more information go to:
www.womensprerogative.org/womeninscience
E-mail stories to action@nwlc.org

For more information go to:
www.womensprerogative.org/womeninscience
E-mail stories to action@nwlc.org

For more information go to:
www.womensprerogative.org/womeninscience
E-mail stories to action@nwlc.org

For more information go to:
www.womensprerogative.org/womeninscience
E-mail stories to action@nwlc.org

For more information go to:
www.womensprerogative.org/womeninscience
E-mail stories to action@nwlc.org

For more information go to:
www.womensprerogative.org/womeninscience
E-mail stories to action@nwlc.org